Temperance Lectures by Mr. Kellogg.

We learn that the energetic and whole hearted apostle and advocate of the cause of temperance, F. W. Kellogg, will in the course of next week deliver a course of three lectures on temperance, in this city, prior to his visit to England, which he is soon to make for the purpose of lecturing.

Just at this time little need be said in public lectures relative to the necessity and application of law for restricting the sale of intoxicating drinks, since the law so emphatically speaks for itself, and since about every body in the community is in favor of its being fully enforced. But there is yet a great work to be accomplished by the friends of temperance in the way of reformation among drinkers of all the various types and shades, from the young man who only occasionally sips a little wine as a social glass, to the besotted man wallowing in the gutter.—To remove the sale of liquor in our city is the work of the law and which should actively engage the attention of the city authorities. To assist men from drunkenness is the work of kindly effort of the friends of temperance, operating upon the mind and the heart, and the various motives which prompt men to virtuous habits.

There is a use, then, for temperance lectures in our city, and as the attention of the public is turned to the evils of intemperance by the recent passage of a strong law, it seems a favorable time for the discussion of the subject of temperance, by so able a lecturer as Mr. Kellogg.

It is well known that Mr. Kellogg has labored for several years exclusively in the temperance cause in various parts of the country, but without being able to accumulate property. He has an opportunity to visit England under favorable auspices, and to enable him to do so it is necessary that his friends here and elsewhere should make up a purse for him. We feel, therefore, that it is right and proper to make an appeal in his behalf to the friends of the temperance cause in this city. In order to raise the sum which ought to be tendered to Mr. Kellogg under the present circumstances, it will be necessary to charge a small admission fee at his lectures; and we trust, in addition, that the true and faithful women of our city who have long labored in that cause, will find encouragement to give a tea party in behalf of this enterprise of benevolence. At any rate all friends must take hold and do what they can to help forward the matter and give Mr. Kellogg a generous welcome, and bid him go forth on his mission with a light and happy heart.

The lectures will probably be delivered on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday evenings of next week.

A New Instrument of Destruction. A rifle capable of firing 25 balls every minute, including the time of loading, was recently exhibited in Newark, N. J., and is supposed to be an important improvement in fire arms.—Under the barrel, in the place of the ordinary ramrod, is an iron tube containing the 25 balls, and by cocking the gun a ball is brought up in the barrel, and the same operation also brings up from the breech a "puff" of priming. The charge of powder is contained in the ball, which is not round, but oblong, and having an opening which is cocked shut after the powder has been introduced. The quantity of powder is only 28 grains, and drives the ball with greater force than the large charge in an ordinary gun.

☞ The Pittsburg Gazette bids us remember, that the man whose business has a fair proportion of capital at its foundation, who never engages in uncertain speculations, and who advertises judiciously and freely, never fails.—The want of these requisites will endanger his situation, but the want of advertising is the greatest want of the three. A judicious man, with little or no capital, by a free use of advertising may prosper and create capital, while the man with capital, who neglects advertising, may find his business gradually declining, and his capital diminishing year by year. Fifty dollars a year spent in advertising, is of more value to a business man than three thousand dollars additional capital."

☞ We learn that the Roman Catholic Church have purchased the large and beautiful square of land on the corner of Broadway and Somerset streets of Hon. Charles Stetson for the sum of $3000, for the purpose of erecting thereon a splendid cathedral, to excel any church in the city. It is stated that the lot on the corner of Somerset and French streets, adjoining the north half of the cathedral lot, has been conditionally engaged, on which to erect a parsonage house.

Schooner Margaret—A Prize.

The steamer Governor was delayed yesterday for several hours in her arrival to this city, occasioned by her falling in off Segum, with the Sch. Margaret of Penobscot, abandoned. The Governor towed the schooner into Rockland. She did not leak, but her bowsprit and fore rigging had been torn up and injured probably in a collision with some other vessel in the night time and the extent of damage not ascertained, before her abandonment.

☞ The Worcester Spy says that Hon. John P. Hale has consented to deliver an oration on the occasion of the Free Soil Convention of the 4th of July in that place. The celebration is to be of a strictly par isan character.

☞ Mr. William Lyston, of Boston, has recently painted two beautiful Portraits for Dr. W——— and lady of Gardiner, Me., for which he received a suitable compensation, besides a present to himself and lady of a silver goblet as a mark of satisfaction and esteem.

☞ The Lowell Courier publishes a paper numerously signed by the young men of Lowell, tendering to Mr. Webster, in acknowledgment of his eminent services, a cordial invitation to visit that city at his earliest convenience.

☞ The work on the unfinished portion of the Kennebec and Portland Railroad is now steadily advancing towards its completion.—The Gardiner Transcript states that the cars will run in about one month, to a point on the river, four miles below Gardiner.

☞ The International Monthly Magazine for June, by Messrs. Stringer & Townsend, has been received from the attentive agents of the work in Boston, Messrs. Fetridge & Co., and copies may be obtained in this city at the bookstore of D. Bugbee.

☞ Jenny Lind will give the first of her new series of concerts in Boston, on Wednesday evening, June 18.

☞ The recent heavy rains have damaged the Pennsylvania State canals so as to interrupt navigation in some places. The damage will be repaired this week.

☞ Three large factories among the cotton manufacturers at Providence, R. I., have occurred within the last week.

☞ We have received Nos 30 and 31 of the Dictionary of Mechanics, Engineering and Engineering now in course of publication by Messrs. D. Appleton & Co., subscriptions for which are taken by Messrs. E. F. Duren & Co., where separate numbers may also be obtained.

Hydropathic Encyclopedia: A System of Hydropathy and Hygiene. In eight parts. Designed as a guide to families and students, and a text-book for physicians. By R. T. Trall, M. D., with numerous engraved illustrations. New York. Fowlers & Wells.—1851.

We have received from Wm. Lewis the first part of a work with the above title, now in the course of publication. It is the design of this work to bring together all the facts and principles in medicine pertaining to the Philosophy of Life and Health, and the Water Cure Treatment of Diseases.

The progress that disease is making, owing to the frequent and gross violations of the laws of nature, in the daily living of mankind, and the monstrous absurdities which have crept into the healing art, serve to give value to a work of this kind. Disease has become so common that it begins to be deemed about as important for every family to be able to treat disease as to prepare food for the use they subject.

The entire work, of eight parts of over one hundred pages each, may be obtained for $2,00

Subscriptions received at the bookstore of Wm. Lewis.

Foot Impressions of England and its People. By Hugh Miller author of the "Footprints of the Creator," the "Old Red Sandstone," etc. Boston: Gould & Lincoln.—1851. pp 430.

This is a handsome volume from the pen of one well known as an able author on the science of Geology. He is a man of deep thought and of close observation with a masterly power in the description of natural scenery and works of art. His journeys into the midland districts of England gave him a fine opportunity to observe the habits and social condition of many of the humbler classes, and he has portrayed them in a manner to increase his already high reputation. His interesting of valuable facts and useful information refreshes and strengthens the mind with wholesome instruction, so that his work amuses and enlightens. His close observation and his happy faculty of relating what he has observed lets in a flood of light upon the habit and manners of England and the English.

This book may be purchased at the bookstore of Messrs. E. F. Duren & Co. in this city.

The Dayan Chiefs. By the author of "A Peep to catch a Sunbeam," "Only," "Old Jolliffe," and "Sequel to Old Jolliffe," "A Merry Christmas," etc. Boston: James Munroe & Company. 1851.

We have received a neat little volume with the above title from the publishing house mentioned in the imprint. It bears the same sterling marks of clear and accurate descriptions of nature and of life, the same deep quiet thought and the same heart-ennobling suggestion which have marked no other very popular and very interesting and useful productions of the same pen. We wish that every body would read this and the kindred works of the author until they became imbued with their tender and reverying spirit, and instead of being forever in antagonism would look upon the bright and hopeful side of those they would influence: and learn to draw instead of craving.

This work is for sale at Messrs. E. F. Duren & Co's.

Lucy's Half Crown! How she earned it and how she spent it. With some hints on the art of making people happy without money. A tale in two parts. By Catharine M. F. Cowper, author of "Visits to Beechwood Farm," &c. Boston: James Munroe & Co. 1851.

This is a pleasant little volume the object of which is very well set forth in the title. The story is well calculated to inspire the mind with many of the modes in which the loving spirit and a willing hand and the sympathies and right direction of heart may do good in our world, and plant the seeds of a happy influence which shall yield fruit for long years.

The work may be found at E. F. Duren & Co's.

Sagacious, enterprising business men are too well aware of all the aids to be employed for their success, to neglect the object, which is advertising. And the purchasers are so blind as not to see that those men who are most enterprising are constantly and systematically advertising, and are best men to deal with.—Newport Courier.

So high is the monkey esteemed in India, that temples are erected to his honor. One of these, a large magnificent structure in the Island of Ceylon was plundered by the Portuguese, who took from it an ape's tooth heavily incased in pure gold, and for the ransom of which the natives offered 700,000 ducats. At Ahmedabad, the capital of Guzerat, there are three hospitals for monkeys, where the sick and lame are nursed by salaried attendants.

[From the Boston Journal.]

HON. GEORGE EVANS.

George Evans holds a high rank among the living statesmen of America. In that brilliant constellation of orators, jurists and politicians, which enroll among its members the names of Webster, Clay, Calhoun, Cass, Benton, and a host of others scarcely less distinguished. He occupies a prominent position. Scarcely passed middle life, he has risen to great eminence in his profession as a lawyer; as a statesman and a legislator he has acquired high distinction, at the same time he is regarded as a profound and accomplished scholar.

Maine may well be proud of Mr Evans; for it must be acknowledged that he is her most gifted son. Indeed New England may reasonably feel honored by his name, for she can boast few prouder ones among all her noble family of great men. In strength of intellect, vast powers of analysis, elevation of great faculties to practical ends, force and command of logic, and skill in conducting an argument—in all these combined he is second to no man in New England, nor in the whole Union. In lofty flights of oratory, and in brilliant rhetorical displays, he is surpassed by Mr Webster; who indeed, surpasses all other orators ancient or modern. In the gorgeous imagery of word painting he is excelled by Edward Everett, who is facile princeps in that department.

In a certain kind of specious ballinacy, (to which he lays no claim,) he is doubtless exceeded by many; but in strength of expression, force and consistency of language and in the directness and comprehensiveness of his arguments—whether at the bar or in the legislative hall—he is not surpassed. I will venture to assert, by Mr. Webster or any other man.

Though he never seeks distinction, otherwise than in a faithful discharge of his duties, in every position and under all circumstances, though he never aims at outward display, merely to catch the eye, and please the casual observer, yet no one who has traced him in his career—both in public and private life—can avoid an impression of his intellectual greatness and that he is one of the first minds of the age.

We have many public men who are as widely known—perhaps more so—as Mr. Evans, but who are vastly inferior to him in ability and attainments. It is a well known fact that notoriety is no reliable evidence of real strength and greatness. Were this the criterion by which we must judge of a man's merit, we should be obliged to accord to Mr London Punch, Barnum, and even to Gen. Tom Thumb, the meed of greatness.

It has been justly remarked that he is a great man, who is prepared and armed for every emergency; who finds himself sufficient for any position to which he may be called; and who is so able to repel assaults as to make them. This idea is strikingly illustrated in Mr. Evans's public life. The more weighty his responsibilities, the more arduous his duties, the more difficult his position, to the better advantage has he shown himself.

Mr. Evans's name and services are not unknown, in any quarter of the country, yet his reputation, high as it is, is not commensurate with his real merit. A mind like his cannot be read at a glance, its breadth and depth cannot at once be measured. Merely saying that he has been long in public life—that he has been a member of the Maine Legislature and of the U. S. House of Representatives—that he has served with credit in the U. S. Senate—that his character, as a state-man is well established and defined,—is speaking well of him without doing him full justice. He is a man who has done his State and country some real service,—who has discharged his duties with more than ordinary ability and fidelity, in every position he has held.

It is not my intention to attempt an appreciation of Mr. Evans's character as a lawyer or a statesman, but merely to give a brief sketch of his career.

Mr. Evans was born January 12, 1797. He received his course of instruction preparatory to college, part y at the Monmouth and partly at the Hallowell Academy. At the time he attended these institutions he was noted for close attention to his studies, for his apt and vigorous mind, and for his genuine kindness and generosity. He entered Bowdoin College in 1811, and graduated in 1815. Upon leaving college he entered immediately on the study of the law, which he pursued thoroughly and industriously for three years. At the expiration of this term he commenced practice in Gardiner, under very flattering circumstances. He very soon took a high stand in his profession, having the highest prospects before him for great eminence at the bar. But he was not long allowed to devote his attention exclusively to his professional pursuits. He was returned to the Maine House of Representatives at the age of 28. For four consecutive sessions he was a member of the same body—the last session Speaker of the House—discharging his duties during the period with great credit to himself, and to the entire satisfaction of his friends.

In July, 1829, he was elected to the House of Representatives in Congress, in which he held a seat for six consecutive Congresses, embracing a period of 12 years. Then, though a member elect to the House for the seventh term, he was elected to a seat in the Senate for a full term.

While in the House he was one of its ablest and most industrious members, ever ready to perform his part fully and faithfully. He never was known to alter and flag in his support of a measure he had set himself to sustain. In debates on financial questions he was a prominent participator, displaying a ripe judgment, and a vast knowledge of political economy and the machinery of government. In the Senate his course was onward and onward. There, as in the House, he excited the admiration and surprise of his associates by the masterly manner in which he handled and elucidated the most abstruse financial questions. Of his speeches on the Tariff, it may be said, as has been remarked of Macaulay's Essays, that they are "masterly treatises." His able vindication of the Tariff act of '42, and his successful refutation of the free trade doctrine, elicited the praise and commendation of our most distinguished public men. In speaking of Mr. Evans's knowledge of the finances of the country, as his Senatorial term was about expiring, Mr. Webster said, that it was understood that subject as well as any gentleman connected with the government since the days of Crawford and Gallatin; nay, as well as either of those gentlemen ever understood it." And Mr. Clay paid him an equally high compliment. The ceding men of the opposition have also entertained high respect for him as a scholar and statesman. So eminently fitted is he to fill the Treasury Department, that the friends of Protection have long manifested a desire to see him in that position. No man in the country is better qualified for the station—and few so well.

After the expiration of his Senatorial term, he returned to Gardiner and resumed the practice of his profession. While in public life his private interests had suffered from the strictness with which he had devoted himself to his official business. His talents from his public duties, seemed to increase his professional business in a great degree. His powerful defense of Coolidge—one of the most splendid and convincing arguments ever made at the American bar—greatly added to his already brilliant fame as a lawyer. It fully established his reputation as the ablest advocate in Maine. But he was not long allowed to remain undisturbed in private life. In 1840 he was appointed by President Taylor as Chairman of the Board of Commissioners on Mexican Claims. This was a very responsible and delicate position. The Commission have just terminated their services, to the acceptance of the government, and the general satisfaction of all concerned. Mr. Evans was offered the Chargeship to Nicaragua, which he declined to accept. He was also offered a seat as Chairman of the Commission on California Lands, which he likewise declined for private reasons. Mr. Evans is again in private life. How long he will remain so, or to what important post the country will next call him, is uncertain. It is sincerely hoped the country will not long be without his valuable services, in a position where they are most needed.

When the ear is perfect in its formation, Deafness can always be cured. A long and extensive practice in one of the best institutions in Europe, and the unprecedented success which has attended his efforts in numerous cases which had baffled all other treatment is perhaps the best recommendation he can offer to those afflicted with Deafness. Early application is necessary, as his engagements in other northern towns will make his stay of limited duration, say between one and two months, and time is of the utmost importance in many chronic cases. Operations given in point.

TRAW WRAPPING PAPER—At stores of WM LEWIS.

WHITE MOUNTAIN STATION HOUSE,
Peabody River, Gorham, N. H.

THIS capacious and elegant establishment, not erected expressly to accommodate travellers to the WHITE MOUNTAINS, will be opened on the first day of July next

This House is situated on the line of the Atlantic and St. Lawrence Railroad, in the valley of the Androscoggin River at the junction of the Peabody River and the Morse River with the Androscoggin, and at the immediate base of the White Mountain Range, on the northeast side.

The confluence of these valleys at this point,—affords the most beautiful and imposing views of the Mountains in various directions, and a more expeditious and easy access to the summit of Mt Washington and other peaks, than can be obtained from any other quarter.

The Home is but FOUR HOURS ride distant from Portland, and EIGHT HOURS from Boston, by daily railroad trains over the Eastern, Boston and Maine, and Atlantic and St Lawrence roads

An excellent public highway, suitable for Carriages of all descriptions, extends from this House seven miles up the Valley of the Peabody river to the eastern base of Mount Washington. At this point a convenient public house is now erecting for the accommodation of parties ascending the mountains. The actual ascent on this side, can be accomplished with remarkable facility.

The valley of the Peabody River, in its entire length, passes along the whole eastern base of the range, affording very near and uninterrupted views of all the great peaks, and of the remarkable ravines and gorges that seem them. The valley of the Moose river affords equally near and most attractive views on the north side. Tourists and artists of the most consummate taste have pronounced the scenery upon the northern and eastern sides of the Mountains, to be much more wild, rugged and truly Alpine, than any presented on the other sides.—Pedestrians can make the ascent of Mount Washington from the Peabody river, and return, in from 6 to 8 hours.

To facilitate the ascent, a safe and convenient bridle path is to be opened to the summit of Mount Washington. From the central position of this House, at the confluence of great mountain valleys, the finest drives can be enjoyed in all directions, upon good carriage roads, affording new and imposing views of the Mountains at every turn. The numerous mounts in streams and lakes in the immediate vicinity abound in trout.

Six miles north of the House, upon the line of the Railroad, and accessible also by a carriage road safe the celebrated BERLIN FALLS, on the Androscoggin, the most remarkable cataract in New England. The connections of the Atlantic and St Lawrence railroad to this station, opens an entirely new easy and cheap route to the Mountains, on the north and east side,—while the remarkable PINKHAM NOTCH, extending southward from this House, along the whole eastern base of the Range, affords a convenient access to the valley of the Saco, and thence to the celebrated CRAWFORD NOTCH. Tourists from all parts of the country will find this the most expeditious and agreeable route for visiting the Mountains.

There is no Stage travel on the Route. Passengers are landed from the cars directly at the house. The Railroad train from Boston and Portland every day, will afford constant communication to and from the mountains. The Proprietors of the House will make arrangements with the Telegraph Companies and with Coogler's Express, by which despatches and other communications can be transmitted to and from all parts of the country for the convenience of visitors.

The House is large and commodious, constructed with great regard to architectural elegance and with all the conveniencies of a first class Hotel—It has one hundred and eight sleeping rooms, and is newly and thoroughly finished throughout.

Families can be accommodated with suites of rooms.

The Proprietors having leased the House for a term of years, will do all in their power to promote the comfort and pleasure of their guests, and can promise a well supplied table, and clean and well ventilated rooms at moderate charges. In connection with the House is a large LIVERY STABLE, where good Horses and Carriages, and Saddle Horses will be furnished at all times.

Also good Bathing rooms for the convenience of visitors.

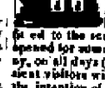
Cape Cottage Re-opened.



ON the first day of May, this long celebrated MARINE VILLA, which with the Stables, Sheds, Bowling Alleys, &c., has been entirely rebuilt in a new style of architecture, fitted to the scenery of the neighborhood, was re-opened for summer boarders and transient company, on all days (Sabbaths excepted, when no transient visitors will be received on any account,) the intention of the subscriber being to establish for the House a high character, so as to engage the hearty co-operation of all who may need repose, refreshment, sea bathing, pleasant drives and walks, boating, fishing, bowling, &c., &c. Being built on the outer shore of Cape Elizabeth, all open to the sea, with vessels passing and re-passing all hours, and nearly under the windows; the White Hills of New Hampshire in full view on one side with the United States Forts, water batteries, harbor and shipping of Portland city and the broad ocean on the other, CAPE COTTAGE has long been regarded as one of the most beautiful and picturesque watering places in the world. By the kind notice of Mr. George Combe, in a book of travels in the United States, who spent a summer at this place, it has acquired a high reputation abroad.

The location is all that can be required for resort to the invalid or persons for pleasure; and the subscriber will not fail in his endeavors to make it in all respects deserving of the public.

P. S. Being only three miles from Portland, conveyance can be had at any time.

Another Scientific Wonder!

DR. J. S. HOUGHTON'S Great Dyspepsia Curer!

THE TRUE

DIGESTIVE FLUID, OR Gastric Juice,

PREPARED from RENNET, or the fourth STOMACH OF THE OX, after directions of BARON LIEBIG, the great Physiological Chemist, by J. S. HOUGHTON, M. D. Philadelphia, Pa.

This is a Great Natural Remedy for Indigestion and Dyspepsia curing after Nature's own Method by Nature's own Agents, the Gastric Juice. PEPSIN is the chief element, or Great Digestive Principle of the Gastric Juice—the Natural Food, the Purifying & Preserving, and Stimulating Agent of the Stomach and Intestines. It is extracted from the Digestive Stomach of the Ox, thus forming an ARTIFICIAL DIGESTIVE FLUID, precisely like the natural Gastric Juice in its Chemical powers, and furnishing a complete and perfect substitute for it—By the aid of this preparation, the pains and evils of Indigestion and Dyspepsia are removed just as they would be by a healthy Stomach. In doing wonders for Dyspepsia, curing cases of Debility, Emaciation, Nervous Decline, and Dyspeptic Consumption supposed to be on the verge of the grave. The Scientific Evidence upon which it is based, is to the highest degree curious and remarkable.

BARON LIEBIG in his celebrated work on Animal Chemistry, says: "An Artificial Digestive Fluid, analogous to the Gastric Juice, may be prepared from the mucuous membrane of the Stomach of the Ox, in which various articles of food as meat and eggs will be softened changed and digested just in the manner as they would be in the human stomach."

Half a teaspoonful of pure Pepsin infused in water will digest or dissolve Five Pounds of Beef in about two hours out of the stomach

Dr HOUGHTON'S PEPSIN is sold by nearly all the dealers in fine drugs and Popular Medicines throughout the United States. It is prepared in Powder and in Fluid form—and in Prescription viable to the use of Physicians.

PRIVATE CIRCULARS, for the use of Physicians may be obtained of Dr. Houghton or his Agents describing the whole process of preparation, and giving the authorities upon which the claims of this new remedy are based. As it is not a secret remedy no objection can be raised against its use by Physicians in respectable standing and regular practice.

Price, in Fluid form ONE DOLLAR per bottle.

ELEGANT AND INVALUABLE Articles for the Toilet

Bogle's Hyperion Fluid.

For Restoring, Preserving, and Embellishing the HAIR.

The following Certificate from Dr. Winslow Lewis one of the most eminent Physicians of Boston, will show the estimation in which it is held by the scientific and learned, being one only of many similar ones.

Boston, Feb. 15 1847.

Mr. Wm. Bogle,—Sir: The preparation given me by you for the hair, has been extensively used in my family, and they give it the decided preference over all other compositions of the kind. It improves and beautifies the hair, and checks the skin of all impurities, without producing any ultimate deleterious effects which are so frequent in the result of many well known and patented compounds. Yours

WINSLOW LEWIS.

This an indispensable article for the Ladies, as it keeps the hair in curl, and when once used, the young ringlets of the hair, in their playful and graceful luxuriance, form the foundation of a good head of hair.

BOGLE'S AMOLE,

A COMPOUND FOR SHAVING.

This is a liquid article in totally different and superior to anything yet invented for shaving. This base of, is derived from the Amole, or "soap plant" of California, an article used by the natives of that country for washing; and like, the use of strong alkali, so hurtful to the skin, is avoided. The vegetable and detergent properties have the purest and most non irritating effects on the skin,—it soothes and allays irritation, and has a fine, thick, creamy lather, which does not dry on the face. It is a decided luxury to be shaved with this incomparable soap. It is done up in elegant style, calculated either for the "Trough and ready" travellers, or the toilet of the most fastidious connoisseur.

Bogle's Hebeatona.

FOR REFRESHING AND BEAUTIFYING THE COMPLEXION.

Eradicating Tans, Pimples, and other eruptions of the skin, and rendering it fair, delicate and blooming. It is equally efficacious in protecting the skin from the hot sun of summer, and freezing blasts of winter, and is the most transient and delicious article to be found at the toilet of Fashion.

All the above articles have stood the test of the most searching investigations, and are warranted superior to anything yet invented; but, if not found to prove so in fact, the money, in all cases, will be refunded by my Agents. WILLIAM BOGLE, Proprietor.

THE GENUINE BALM OF COLUMBIA.

IF you wish a rich, luxuriant head of hair, free from dandruff and scurf, do not fail to procure the genuine Balm of Columbia. In cases of baldness, it will more than extend your expectations. Many who have lost their hair for twenty years, have had it restored to its original perfection by the use of this balm. Age, state, or condition appears to be no obstacle whatever; it also causes the fluid to flow with which the delicate hair tubes are filled, by which means thousands (who se hair was gray as the Arctic eagle) have had their hair restored to its natural color by this invaluable remedy. In all cases of fever it will be found the most pleasant we exhibit can be used. A few applications only are necessary to keep the hair from falling out. It strengthens the roots, it never fails to impart a rich glossy appearance, and as a perfume for the toilet it is unequalled. It holds three times as much as other assimilated hair restoratives, and is more effectual.

BRANT'S INDIAN

The Great COUGH REMEDY.

Many years of experience, and more than a Hundred Thousand Cures of Consumptive Complaints, have proved to the undersigned manufacturer of all persons who have become acquainted with this wonderful remedy, that it is greatly superior, because it is soothing and healing in its nature, to all other remedies to cure Consumption of the Lungs, Bronchy other Throat, or Pulmonary Organs, however, that is said by some that Consumption can not be cured. So that the opinion of the many or the few, we shall not attempt to argue with such, but this we will say, and the proof is a fact which can be proved by thousands of cases, that this medicine has cured Coughs and Consumption, which, before its cures were effected, were called real Consumptions, and which were established beyond a doubt, universally, and not that we say so, but the Physicians of those who are and whose names are said to have died with that fatal disease Consumption. This Balsam has cured thousands of persons who were in the last stage of it, viz—had Night Sweats, Expectorating Coughs—Pains in the Breast, Side, and Back—Difficulty of Breathing—Purulent Expectoration—Hectic Fever—Night Sweats—and wasting away of the Flesh and Blood. Persons having such constitutions have been cured after it was said they could live a week longer. This Medicine has cured some who were supposed to be in a dying state, but, by the use of this remedy, they now live, and enjoy good health.

This Medicine is purely a vegetable preparation. It is pleasant to take, and never does injury in any shape of dose, or under any circumstances. It affects in no degree the full and almost miraculous Cures by Purifying, Strengthening, and Invigorating the whole system—by revitalizing the constitution, and producing a healthy action—thus causing Cough—nothing the Nerves—and aiding and facilitating Expectoration. It Cures the following diseases, viz.—

Consumption,

COUGHS and Colds, Bronchitis, Asthma, Spitting of Blood, Hemorrhage of the Lungs, Pains in the Breast, Side, and Chest, Nervousness, Night Sweats, Palpitations of the Heart, and all FEMALE WEAKNESSES and Complaints arising therefrom, Chalybeate Influence, &c.

☞ For Proof and particulars of Cures, see our Pamphlets and Handbills—all our Agents have them to give away.

NEW YORK, June 2, 1848

Messrs. A. B. & D. Sands—Gentlemen: Having for four years suffered with a severe humor in my face, which baffled the skill of the most eminent physicians in this city, and finally settled in my eyes, rendering me totally blind, and having used a large number of bottles of your Sarsaparilla, I am happy to say that it has entirely restored my sight, and I am now in the enjoyment of perfect health. I feel it my duty to make this statement, that others may be induced to use your Sarsaparilla, and be convinced of its virtues.
